The Maui Quilt, as its name suggests takes its inspiration from the famous Hawaiian Island of Maui, also known as "The Valley Isle". The island is loved for its beaches, views of migrating humpback whales and farm-to-table cuisine. An organic ambiance of the island inspired the creation of this bedding which is an all over self-on-self stitching and a luxurious soft blend of cotton velvet backed with cotton linen. An unusual stitch pattern adds style and just the right amount of texture giving it a perfect drape.

A woman with dark hair is sitting on a bed, smiling and holding a glass of red wine to her forehead. She is wearing a beige, long-sleeved, silk-like outfit. The bed has a green quilted blanket and several pillows, including a large green quilted one and a white one with a striped pattern. The background shows a headboard and more pillows.
